

New Faces of American Society of Agricultural and Biological Engineers (ASABE) – 2020

CSE3 faculty Dr. Randall Etheridge has been named one of the New Faces of 2020 by the American Society of Agricultural and Biological Engineers (ASABE). The goal of the New Faces list is to inspire peers, the public and future engineers, while recognizing the professional and personal achievements of those who are making a difference, according to the ASABE. Etheridge was among 10 people in the country recognized in the professionals category for those age 35 or younger.

For more information, please visit: <https://www.asabe.org/Awards-Competitions/New-Faces-of-ASABE-2020>